

WWF Observation Cabins by YAC, Orbetello, Italy

6 June 2021: late registrations deadline

9 June 2021, 12.00 midday GMT: materials submission deadline

WWF Observation Cabins, a competition project by Young Architects Competitions

Young Architects Competitions is an international network of professionals aiming at enhancing architecture research and young designers' skills. Since 2013 we have been organizing numerous competitions joined by hundreds of designers based in 100 countries.

WWF Observation Cabins Competition

The contests promoted until today have been supported by several international academic and professional partners with the likes of Automobili Lamborghini, Ferrari, National Geographic, and Manni Group.

The competitions gathered prominent jury panels featuring, among the others, Eduardo Souto de Moura, Zaha Hadid Architects, Daniel Libeskind, Aires Mateus, Shigeru Ban Architects, Kazuyo Sejima.

The WWF Observation Cabins competition inviting creatives to design a visitors' center and observation cabins in the WWF Oasis of Orbetello, Italy.

There will be a total amount of 15.000 Euros in prize money for the awarded proposals and the jury of the competition gathers outstanding international personalities like Kazuyo Sejima, Sou Fujimoto, BIG studio, Foster + Partners, Snøhetta, HHF, and many more.

WWF Observation Cabins is expected to be a moment of significant international participation for combining extremely interesting and up-to-date topics and a well-esteemed Technical Committee.